

Anne Yazdani, Technical Business Analyst

Synapse Energy Economics | 485 Massachusetts Avenue, Suite 3 | Cambridge, MA 02139 | 617-453-7035
ayazdani@synapse-energy.com

PROFESSIONAL EXPERIENCE

Synapse Energy Economics Inc., Cambridge, MA. Technical Business Analyst, June 2024 – Present.

- Bridges the gap between business and technology departments
- Acts as administrator for the business software applications
- Collaborates with IT and application vendors to resolve technical issues
- Evaluates existing frameworks and collaborates across departments to optimize the technological landscape and enhance the overall business performance

Raytheon, Marlboro, MA. Electrical Engineer, 2004 – 2006.

- Laboratory integration and test of satellite communications circuit boards.
- Debugging RF boards to identify issues; tasking rework and confirming correct functionality
- Maintained corresponding documentation for boards
- Built on foundational engineering skills needed at a Defense contractor

Draper, Cambridge, MA. Electrical Engineer, 2001 – 2004.

- Supported Inertial Momentum Unit (IMU) development for UAVs and other applications.
- Learned VHDL hardware programming language and schematic capture for board design in support of development efforts.
- Documented functionality and created program master binder.
- Developed professional presentation and technical skills

EDUCATION

Thayer School of Engineering at Dartmouth College, Hanover, NH
Bachelor of Engineering, 2001

Bates College, Lewiston, ME
Bachelor of Science, 2000

Resume updated June 2024